

AGCAS

The Association of Graduate
Careers Advisory Services

AGCAS Courses for Employer Engagement Professionals

Introduction to Employer Engagement

A one-day workshop for careers and employability specialists who are new to employer engagement activity. As well as sharing best practice, this interactive workshop will encourage and challenge you to think creatively about how best to respond to differing employer needs, from SMEs to global corporates. Who is it for? Careers and Employability professionals who are preparing for, new into, or recently appointed into, roles with responsibility for employer engagement.

(not part of the AGCAS/Warwick qualification)

Enhancing your employer network and growing relationships

This practical one-day workshop delivered by experienced graduate recruitment specialist is for careers and employer engagement professionals who are keen to fine-tune their technique in proactively working with employers. As well as sharing best practice and ideas from across the industry, this highly interactive workshop will also encourage and challenge you to think creatively about how best to identify prospective employers, network effectively and grow relationships.

Who is it for? Established careers and employer engagement professionals who engage with employers on a regular basis and are keen to further develop their employer network and grow existing relationships.

(not part of the AGCAS/Warwick qualification)

Developing an Employer Engagement Strategy

This is a one-day session for heads of service, deputy heads and senior careers and employability professionals responsible for developing employer engagement strategy.

A small group of participants will work together to share thought leadership and ideas with peers, reflect upon their institution's position and ambition within the graduate employer landscape and how to shape their strategy, resource and priorities accordingly.

Who is it for? Senior and experienced careers professionals who are responsible for developing the institution's employer engagement strategy.

(not part of the AGCAS/Warwick qualification)

Running your own assessment centre (can be taken at any time)

A one day workshop for careers and employability professionals who are supporting clients through the assessment centre stage of graduate recruitment processes. This interactive workshop will provide you with openly-available assessment centre materials, standard competencies and train you on the basics on how to run, assess and give feedback to your students.

Who is it for? Careers and employability professionals involved in supporting clients through the later stages of graduate recruitment processes.

(not part of the AGCAS/Warwick qualification)

Pre-screening, how do recruiters shortlist (can be taken at any time)

A one-day session, for careers and employability professionals who are supporting clients through the early stages of the graduate recruitment process. This interactive workshop lifts the lid on how recruiters shortlist and screen candidates, and will give you an opportunity to use the scoring and screening techniques during the day.

Who is it for? Careers and employability professionals involved in supporting clients through the early stages of graduate recruitment processes.